Introductions: Mitch Albom and Amy Hepburn

Mitch Albom is the author of numerous books of fiction and nonfiction, which have collectively sold more than forty million copies in forty-seven languages worldwide. He has written seven number-one New York Times bestsellers - including Tuesdays with Morrie, the bestselling memoir of all time, which topped the list for four straight years - award-winning TV films, stage plays, screenplays, a nationally syndicated newspaper column, and a musical. His most recent work is a return to nonfiction with the New York Times bestseller Finding Chika, a memoir about a young Haitian orphan whose short life would forever change Albom's heart. He founded and oversees SAY Detroit, a consortium of nine different charitable operations in his hometown, including a nonprofit dessert shop and food product line to fund programs for Detroit's most underserved citizens. He also operates an orphanage in Port-Au-Prince, Haiti, which he visits monthly. He lives with his wife, Janine, in Michigan.

Amy Hepburn is a recognized Impact Investing expert and social entrepreneur who believes in pushing the boundaries of philanthropy. She accelerates social change by strategically leveraging resources, talent and amplifier platforms for maximum social impact. She has spent 20 years driving social change in the public and private sectors with expertise in the advancement of women and girls globally and protection of children in crises. Amy is on faculty at Duke University and George Washington University and advises governments, philanthropists, corporations, and foundations on social impact strategies committed to finding new solutions to society's most complex challenges.
